This plan allocates $1,961,818.74 plus interest of Stripper XI oil overcharge monies received from the U.S. Department of Energy. These monies must be used on energy programs pursuant to the court order to provide restitution to Wisconsin citizens. Limited administrative costs are allowed. The U.S. Department of Energy and

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

As directed by Section 560.905, Wis. Stats., we are enclosing a report summarizing the technology development activities undertaken by the Wisconsin Department of Development (DOD) in fiscal year 1990. This report addresses a series of statutory initiatives that are designed to stimulate technology-based economic development in Wisconsin.

Please distribute the copies provided to the members of the State Assembly. Copies of the report are also being sent to the State Senate and the Governor. Technology development is integral to the DOD's economic development strategy. Our programs are designed to encourage new technology commercialization and the growth of high-technology sectors, as well as the improvement of Wisconsin's manufacturing technologies. In all its aspects, technology development is critical to Wisconsin's continuing success in national and global competition.

We hope this report is informative and of use in future policy deliberations. Additional copies of the report are available from Jan Whitcher, DOD, at 608/266-9884.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT N. TRUNZO
Secretary, DOD

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

1989 Wisconsin Act 108 revised the statute that provides exemptions from civil liability for death or injury caused by food donations (s.895.51, the "Good Samaritan" law). The revisions were meant to encourage food donation by food merchants. Non-statutory provisions of Act 108 directed the Department of Health and Social Services to study the extent to which food is donated or sold, the effect of the statutory revisions on food donation, and the extent to which any death or injury has resulted from the donation of food. The Department was required to submit a report by January 1, 1992 to each house of the legislature.

The attached report is submitted to fulfill this requirement. The report identifies the lack of familiarity with the Good Samaritan law and the revisions made by 1989 Act 108 as factors that limit the possible impact of the law on food donation. The report indicates that most food merchants and food distributors believe that the type of changes made in the law should result in increased food donations but that the language used in the Good Samaritan law has proved difficult to understand. The report also identifies some deterrents and incentives to food donation. The report found no indication that any cases of illness or death were related to the liberalization of the Good Samaritan law.

Sincerely,
GERALD WHITBURN
