REPORT TO LEGISLATURE

NR 1 and 45, Wis. Adm. Code
Public use of department lands

Board Order No. LF-04-01
Clearinghouse Rule No. 01-011

Statement of Need

This rule package was developed through a biennial process where Department staff review ch. NR 45 and propose revisions to address issues which have arisen on our properties. The proposed revisions are intended to protect the natural resources on Department properties, clarify existing rules and protect the health and safety of our visitors. The proposed rules would:

- Create a Board policy recognizing rock climbing as an established recreational use on a number of Department properties.
- Provide the Department the ability to regulate rock climbing activities, including authority to require climbing permits for groups, to restrict climbing on Department lands, and to prohibit, unless approved on a case-by-case basis, climbing in all except two state natural areas due to the unique resource values of this type of property.
- Allow the Department to issue citations for the use or possession of drug paraphernalia since the current rule prohibits the possession and use of marijuana, but not of drug paraphernalia.
- Prohibit paint ball activities on Department lands due to potential user conflicts and because of the incompatibility of these activities with the primary purpose of lands that have been purchased or managed with federal (sport fishing or wildlife restoration) money.
- Add a number of provisions specific to the Willow Flowage Scenic Waters Area which are consistent with the recently approved master plan or with accepted practices on the other northern flowage properties. Bicycles would be permitted in all areas except where posted, the current practice of people setting up equipment to save a camping site and not occupying the site would be prohibited, and the Willow would be added to the list of properties where fees would not be required. A rule revision would limit camping to 10 days and another rule revision would limit the number of people in the group sites to 15 to protect fragile vegetation and limit erosion on the sites.
- Modify rule provisions pertaining to the Black River State Forest to prohibit pets in the indoor group camps, require that group camp reservations can be accepted only for a minimum of 2 days on weekends, and add two sites within the forest to the list of vehicle admission fee areas.
- Clarify the current provision that the fee exemption at Peninsula State Park golf course is for golf course and club patrons only, so that other park users do not avoid payment of fees by parking in the golf course parking lot and entering the park from there.
- Authorize the Department to control the types of firearms legal for use at the Nevin Springs Fish and Wildlife Area. The intent is to create the ability to restrict hunting to bow and arrow, shotguns (with shot only) and muzzleloaders to help address safety concerns at this property, located in the City of Fitchburg and rapidly being surrounded by development.

- Delete the reference in ch. NR 45 to the Old Wade House since the property has been transferred to the State Historical Society.
- Create a prohibition on jumping or diving from the adjacent cliffs into the St. Croix River at Interstate State Park in locations where injury is likely to result.

Modifications as a Result of Public Hearings

In response to public comments, a number of the rock climbing provisions were revised. Specifically, the rule would no longer authorize the Department to require climbing permits for individuals. The revised language only allows the Department to require permits for groups. Additionally, the language regarding authority to close areas to climbing has been revised to read "restrict" rather than "close". This was in response to a valid concern that other types of restrictions besides closure may be appropriate as well (closure is the most severe restriction).

The Department has decided not to advance the rule proposal to allow pets off-leash in designated pet swim areas. It was apparent from a significant number of comments received that many dog owners were asking not for the Department's proposal, but for additional off-leash upland areas adjacent to the water. A number of people also expressed their interest in seeing additional upland areas, not associated with water, where dogs could be off-leash. Because of potential for user conflicts and concerns about public safety and potential adverse effect on wildlife, this issue will be studied further by the Department.

Comment 5.c. was inadvertently not incorporated into the final rule. Since the change does not affect the meaning of the proposed rule, the change will be incorporated the next time ch. NR 45 is revised. All other recommendations were accepted.

Chapter NR 45 contains the administrative rules for the use of Department properties. This chapter is reviewed and revisions proposed by Department staff every two years.

The rule creates a Board policy recognizing rock climbing and gives the Department authority to regulate climbing activities.

Current rules prohibit the possession and use of marijuana but do not contain a provision prohibiting drug paraphernalia. Currently the possession of drug paraphernalia would have to be charged as a crime under s. 961.573, Wis. Stats. This rule package contains a rule to allow the Department to issue citations for use or possession of drug paraphernalia.

New rules would add a number of provisions for the Willow Flowage scenic area consistent with the recently approved master plan or consistent with practices on the other northern flowage properties. There is language stating that bicycles are permitted in all areas except where posted. There is also a rule designed to eliminate the current practice of people setting up equipment to save a camping site and not occupying the site. New rules would also add the Willow Flowage to the list of properties where camping permits are not required and the payment of fees is waived. A rule revision will limit camping to 10 days consistent with the other northern flowages. A rule has been added for the Willow Flowage limiting the number of people in the group sites to 15 consistent with the master plan and to control campsite damage to the Willow Flowage's fragile and erosion prone campsites.

The rule package contains three rule changes pertaining to the Black River State Forest. One adds the Black River state forest to the properties prohibiting pets in the indoor group camps. Another one requires that group camp reservations only be accepted for a minimum of 2 days on the weekends. The third change is the addition of two sites within the forest to the vehicle admission area list.

There is also a revision to the rule which states that there is no vehicle admission fee charged for the Peninsula State Park golf course. The new rule states that the fee exemption is applicable only to golf course and clubhouse patrons.

Fishing will be prohibited in marked swimming beaches.

Authority is given to the Department to control the types of firearms legal for use at the Nevin Springs Fish and Wildlife Area in the City of Fitchburg.

A reference to the Old Wade House has been dropped from the rule because control over this property has been transferred to the State Historical Society.

Lastly, there is a new code which prohibits jumping or diving from the cliffs into the St. Croix River at Interstate park in locations likely to cause injury. This change parallels a recent National Park Service regulation.
