Description Registration of former military vehicles

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

PROVISIONS OF THE BILL

Under current law, a person who owns a "special interest vehicle" that is 20 or more years old (and who also owns and registers with regular registration at least one other vehicle) may obtain "Collector" registration for the special interest vehicle. Collector registration is a non-expiring registration at a reduced registration fee. The fee is two times the regular annual registration fee for the type of vehicle, plus a $50 administrative fee.

Collector registration allows operation of the vehicle, unrestricted as to location, for 11 months of the year, excluding January. The vehicle registrant may purchase temporary license plate, for $5 for 5 consecutive days of operation, in January.

This bill adds as eligible for registration as a Collector vehicle, a "former military vehicle." The bill provides that a former military vehicle may be registered as a collector vehicle notwithstanding s.341.10(6) Stats., which requires DOT to refuse registration of a vehicle "originally designed and manufactured for off-highway operation unless the vehicle meets the provisions of s.114 of the national traffic and motor vehicle safety act of 1966, as amended, except as otherwise authorized by the statutes."

The bill defines "former military vehicle" as "a vehicle, including a trailer but excluding a tracked vehicle, that is at least 25 years old, was manufactured for use in any country's military forces, and is maintained to accurately represent its military design and markings, regardless of the vehicle's size or weight."

Under current law, a vehicle registered as a collector vehicle may not be used to transport passengers for hire. A former military vehicle would also be subject to this use limitation.

Under current law, a truck registered as a collector vehicle may not haul material weighing more than 500 pounds. However, this bill exempts former military vehicles from this load limitation.

The bill has a delayed effective date of the first day of the third month beginning after publication.

FISCAL IMPACT

Since former military vehicles do not meet Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards, these vehicles are currently prohibited from registration, under state law. However, DMV has inadvertently registered a number of historic military vehicles, virtually all as Collector vehicles. DMV cannot determine how many former military vehicles have been registered as Collector vehicles. DMV has denied registration applications for a small number of former military vehicles, which the bill would make eligible for registration. People may have avoided purchasing vehicles that could not be registered, and might choose to purchase if they could be registered. DMV believes that few new applications for registration of former military vehicles would result from this bill. Thus, this bill has an indeterminate state fiscal impact.
