Legislative Audit Bureau

June 12, 2009

The Honorable, The Legislature:

We have completed a review of Wisconsin Shares, the State’s child care subsidy program, which is administered by the Department of Children and Families (DCF). This review is the first phase of a comprehensive evaluation of the program as approved by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee. The second phase, an evaluation of the effectiveness of child care regulation, will be completed later this year.

From fiscal year (FY) 2004–05 through FY 2007–08, program expenditures increased from $312.3 million to $354.5 million, or by 13.5 percent. They are projected to total $371.2 million in FY 2008–09.

To independently assess the accuracy and documentation supporting eligibility decisions, we reviewed the case files of 400 randomly chosen program participants who received benefits during 2008. We found periods of ineligibility, a lack of appropriate documentation, and other problems in the files of 43 participants, or 10.8 percent of our sample. Extrapolating from this statistically valid sample, we estimate that $16.7 to $18.5 million in improper subsidy payments were made in 2008 as a result of the problems we identified. We include a recommendation for DCF to strengthen its eligibility and wage verification processes.

We also requested daily child attendance records for one month–October 2008–from 50 child care providers for whom our analyses indicated potential program violations. Five providers did not submit records to us. Among the 45 that did, we found numerous problems. For example, 21 providers were paid for care they either did not provide or were not authorized to provide. Because of errors or potentially fraudulent reporting in the sample of 50 providers we analyzed, we estimate that approximately $4.0 million in improper subsidy payments were made to these providers in 2008.

We also identified a significant problem with program rules that allow providers to care for one another’s children, thereby creating child care “rings.” DCF policies also allow providers to hire the parents of children for whom they receive subsidy payments. We found five instances of providers caring for one another’s children. These providers received $109,700 in subsidy payments in 2008 and early 2009. In addition, we found that in a single month, 12 of the 45 providers whose records we reviewed employed a total of 93 participants and received $167,000 in subsidy payments for caring for these participants’ children. Such situations significantly increase the likelihood for fraud or abuse to occur, and we include a recommendation for the Legislature to consider statutory changes to the program rules under which they are allowed.

We appreciate the courtesy and cooperation extended to us by DCF, the Department of Workforce Development, and the county agencies we contacted during our review.

Sincerely,
JANICE MUELLER
State Auditor
