Description guardianships of children

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill modifies statutes in several chapters in state law (e.g., Children's Code, Guardianships and Conservatorships, Juvenile Justice Code). The bill touches just two sections within statutes related to the Department of Public Instruction (DPI), pertaining to Children with Disabilities (subchapter V of chapter 115) and to General School Operations (chapter 118). This fiscal estimate considers the potential impact of the bill on DPI (state impact) and on schools (local impact).

This bill creates a new process and standards for appointment of a guardian of a minor's person but does not change the process or standard for appointment of a guardian under the Children's Code.

This bill creates four types of guardianships of a child's person. Under the bill, any person, including a child 12 years of age or older, may petition for the appointment of a guardian for a child.

State: No Fiscal Effect

There is no fiscal effect at the Department level because in the realm of education, the bill pertains at most to school boards.

Local: No Fiscal Effect

There is no fiscal effect at the local level because the responsibility of school boards to disclose pupil records in compliance with court orders has not been changed.

Long-Range Fiscal Implications
