ADMINISTRATIVE RULES REPORT TO LEGISLATURE CLEARINGHOUSE RULE 07-028

By the Department of Health and Family Services relating to ch. HFS 51, Adoption of Children With Special Need And Preadoption Preparation Training

Basis and Purpose of Proposed Rule

Section 48.84, Stats., requires first-time proposed adoptive parents to receive preadoption preparation (i.e., training) before the child may be placed under s. 48.833, Stats., for adoption; before a prospective adoptive parent may petition for placement of a child for adoption under s. 48.837, Stats., or before a proposed adoptive parent may bring a child into Wisconsin for an international adoption under s. 48.839, Stats.

As required by statute the Department has developed a proposed rule that identifies 10 competencies that cover issues that may confront adoptive parents in general and that may confront adoptive parents of special needs or international children. The proposed permanent rule also requires that first-time adoptive parents receive two hours of orientation and 16 hours of training on the required competencies.

The Department believes that first-time adoptive parents will be better prepared for the challenges of adopting a child if they receive the proposed training, and therefore fewer adoptions will disrupt and dissolve and fewer children will be placed in the child welfare system because their adoptive parents do not wish to or cannot care for them any longer.

Rule Provision	Public Comment	Department Response
HFS 51.10(3)(c)	Question asked whether the rule mandated a particular format for training, such as requiring a certain number of hours be face to face. (3.)	As specified in s. HFS 51.10 (3) (c), a variety of formats may be used to do training. If, however, non-face to face training is used, agency staff must be available to answer, in person, any questions the prospective adoptive parent may have, and the agency must document that training on the ten required competencies was accomplished.
HFS 51.10(5)	Question asked what sort of evidence of having met the requirements will be required. (3.)	Documentation that the parents have received the training must be provided to the parents and agencies involved in the adoption or foster care licensing and maintained for five years. A document is a written or printed paper which can be used to provide evidence or information. The Department has developed a

General	Questions asked how the rule would be applied to families that completed an adoption of a child in a foreign county and wanted to again adopt the same child in Wisconsin. (3.)	The rule was revised to clarify the rule's application to proposed adoptive parents who are adopting children in international jurisdictions. (s. 48.97, Stats.)
