ADMINISTRATIVE RULES DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE CLEARINGHOUSE RULE 10-137 CH. DHS 137: ANATOMICAL GIFTS

Basis and Purpose of Proposed Rule

Section 157.06 (20), Stats., authorizes the department to establish an organ and tissue donor registry and directs the department to promulgate administrative rules to govern any registry it establishes.

The rules proposed by the department, as authorized under s. 157.06 (20), Stats., establish and govern the Wisconsin Donor Registry (Donor Registry). The rules in this order prescribe:

- The conditions under which individuals may have a record of gift or record of intent to make an anatomical gift included in the Donor Registry.
- The conditions under which an individual can amend or revoke his or her record of gift recorded in the Donor Registry.
- The conditions under which procurement organizations and their employees can receive department authorization to access the Donor Registry.
- The conditions of use of Donor Registry information.

Under emergency rules adopted by the department effective March 29, 2010, the Donor Registry became operational.

Responses to Legislative Council Rules Clearinghouse Recommendations

The department accepted the comment(s) made by the Legislative Council Rules Clearinghouse and modified the proposed rule where suggested except as follows:

Clearinghouse Comment 5.b.:

Section DHS 137.04 refers to donation of organs, tissue, and eyes. Since s. 157.06, Stats., refers to the gift of a donor's body or part, should the rule instead refer to the donation of organs, tissue, or eyes? Also, s. DHS 137.04 (1) (a) refers to "transportation or therapy" while par. (b) refers to "transportation, therapy, research or education." Unless there is a difference in the purpose of an anatomical gift, consistent terms should be used.

Department Response:

The definition of "anatomical gift" in s. 157.06 (2) (h), Stats., indicates that an anatomical gift may be a donation of "all of a human body," which implies that an anatomical gift may be a gift of multiple body parts. The use of "and" is consistent with this interpretation of the statute and the department's understanding that organ and tissue donors generally intend to donate all parts of their bodies that may be useful for transplantation or therapy. Under ss. DHS 137.04 (1) (d) and DHS 137.05 of the proposed rule, an individual who makes an inclusive anatomical gift through the Wisconsin donor registry, may limit the gift to a specific organ.

Rule Provision	Public Comment	Department Response
General	The University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics Organ Procurement Organization strongly supports the proposed changes to DHS 137. The development of these rules is a result of over a four year collaboration between all the Wisconsin organ, tissue and eye recovery organizations, the Department of Transportation, Department of Health Services, and the Wisconsin State Legislature. The foundation for the organ, tissue and eye donor registry was laid by the passage of the Revised Uniform Anatomical Gift Act (Wisconsin Act 106) in 2007. This paved the way for Donate Life Wisconsin, a consortium of organizations committed to saving lives through organ, tissue and eye donation and transplantation, to receive a federal grant in 2008 to develop an online registry. The culmination of this collaborative work allows Wisconsin citizens to legally consent to organ, tissue and eye donation, leaving a life-saving legacy and giving hope to the 1500 Wisconsinites on the transplant waitlist. 2	No comment necessary.
