CHAPTER 209.

AN ACT to authorize the erection of a dam across Black river, in the county of Clark, Wisconsin, and to grant certain powers and privileges to certain persons therein named.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

May maintain a dam.

SECTION 1. James Hewett, his heirs and assigns, are hereby authorized and empowered to erect, keep up and maintain a dam, not exceeding ten feet in height, across the Black river, in Clark county, Wisconsin, at a point on said river not more than six hundred feet distant from where O'Neill's creek empties into the said Black river. Said dam to be erected and constructed for manufacturing and boomage purposes; provided, that said dam shall be provided and furnished with a suitable slide or chute, so as to allow the free and unobstructed passage of saw logs.

SECTION 2. In connection with said dam, the said James Hewett, his heirs and assigns, are further authorized and empowered to erect, build, keep up and maintain a system of piers and booms in and along and across said river, not distant from said dam, however, more than two thousand feet; and provided, further, that no charge for tolls upon logs passing through said dam, or said booms, shall ever be collected or received by said James Hewett, or his heirs or assigns.

Piers and booms.

SECTION 3. The said James Hewett, his heirs or assigns, shall conform to the conditions and provisions of chapters 70 and 146 of the revised statutes, and the legislature may at any time alter, modify, amend or repeal this act.

SECTION 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication

Approved March 30, 1883.
