

thrown from any such automobile or other vehicle while the same is within the boundaries of the forest protection districts.

(3) For any person, persons, firm or corporation to burn any rubbish, slashings, brush piles, stumps or marsh lands or other lands on or in any and all of the areas hereinbefore described in this section, unless he first obtains a special permit from a duly authorized and appointed district forest ranger or other person delegated similar authority by the state conservation commission of Wisconsin.

(4) The provisions of this section shall be put into effect by posting of proper notice of the emergency regulations within the respective forest protection districts, this being deemed by the commission the most feasible way of notifying the public within said districts that such regulations are in effect, and such emergency regulations shall remain in full force and effect so long as such posting shall continue or until this section is rescinded or modified by the state conservation commission of Wisconsin or by legislative act.

WCD 30.05 Travel on fire lanes. (1) TRAVEL PROHIBITED. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to travel with any automobile or other vehicle on or over any fire lanes, truck trails or roads that have been constructed by the conservation department or under the direction of the conservation department or its representatives for the particular use only of its forest fire-fighting equipment wherein barriers, gates or similar obstructions have been placed across them by the state conservation commission, state conservation department, its forest rangers, conservation wardens or other designated agents closing them to public travel unless a permit for such travel by vehicle or automobile has been issued them by the state conservation commission, the state conservation department, or their forest rangers, conservation wardens or other designated agents.

(2) PERMITS. The state conservation department, its forest rangers, conservation wardens, or other designated agents of the conservation department are hereby authorized to receive and to issue, free of cost, to any person or persons making application, a permit to travel on such fire lanes, truck trails or roads wherein the applicant or applicants can show to the satisfaction of the conservation commission, conservation department, its forest rangers, conservation wardens or other designated agents that there is good and sufficient reason why such a permit should be issued to them. Applications for such permits shall state thereon the name and address of the applicant, the reasons why he desires such a permit and such other information as may be required by the state conservation department.

(3) PEACE OFFICERS. Nothing in the provisions of this section shall apply to the armed forces of the United States, the national guard or peace officers in the performance of their duties as such, or any person summoned by such peace officers to assist them in making an arrest or to preserve the peace while such person or persons are so engaged, or to any conservation officers, forest rangers, either federal or state, who are acting in the performance of their duties as such.
