

ORDER OF THE STATE OF WISCONSIN NATURAL RESOURCES BOARD REPEALING, AMENDING, AND REPEALING AND RECREATING RULES

The Wisconsin Natural Resources Board proposes an order to repeal NR 10.01(2)(f)4. and 45.09(10); amend NR 10.01(2)(a)4., (c)1.b., (e)2., (f) 3., (g)2., (3)(a)2., (bt), (c)1.a. and 2.b., (f)3., (h)1.b., 10.275(intro.), (1)(a), (b)1., (2)(c), and (3)(a); and repeal and recreate NR 10.29 relating to small game and expanded spring turkey hunting in state parks.

WM-31-05

Analysis Prepared by the Department of Natural Resources

Statutory Authority and Explanation of Agency Authority: Statutes that authorize the promulgation of this rule order include ss. 27.01(2), 29.014, 29.089(3), 29.041 and 227.11, Stats. These sections grant rule making authority to the department to establish and maintain open and closed seasons for hunting and all rules promulgated under this authority are subject to review under ch. 227, Stats.

Statutes Interpreted and Explanation of Agency Authority: In promulgating this rule, ss. 29.014, 29.041, and 29.089(3), Stats., have been interpreted to authorize the department to establish small game and turkey hunting seasons in state parks.

Related Statute or Rule: None.

Plain Language Analysis: This rule order removes sunset dates from chapter NR 10, which will allow the hunting of small game, upland game birds, and migratory birds to continue at Mill Bluff and Mirror Lake state parks. The rule also discontinues the hunting of small game, upland and migratory game birds at Newport and Governor Dodge state parks. Finally, the rule creates three new state park turkey management zones. Willow River, Interstate and Newport state parks will be included in the department's annual turkey management permit issuance system, no longer requiring an additional special permit to hunt in these parks.

Summary of, and Comparison with, Existing or Proposed Federal Regulations: State rules and statutes may not relieve individuals from the restrictions, requirements and conditions of Federal statutes and regulations. Regulation of hunting and trapping of native species has been delegated to state fish and wildlife agencies and there are no applicable Federal regulations, except as pertaining to migratory game birds. Additionally, none of the proposed rules exceed the authorities granted the states in 50 CFR 10.

Comparison with Rules in Adjacent States: Minnesota does not allow hunting in state parks except as required for the management of wild populations, such as deer. Illinois allows small game hunting in most state parks, the only exceptions are those parks with small acreage. In Iowa, state parks are considered wildlife refuges where hunting and trapping is prohibited. However in recent years, in states like Minnesota, special hunting seasons have been established to address deer overpopulation situations. Michigan allows hunting on approximately 200,000 acres of park and recreation lands.

Summary of Factual Data and Analytical Methodologies: In 2002, the Natural Resources Board (NRB) adopted WM-33-02, a rule package modifying NR Chapters 10 and 45, Wis. Adm. Code that authorized small game hunting and would expand spring turkey in six of Wisconsin's state parks and approved the corresponding master plan amendments. Associated with this rule was a three year sunset and an understanding that the department would conduct a review of the three year pilot. The reason a three year sunset was incorporated into the rule was due to the anticipated controversy over user conflicts in the parks. This report has been prepared in response to the Citizen Advisory Committee (CAC) recommendation that a final report be developed following the second year of the pilot (Spring 2005). This report is prepared for review by the Bureaus of Parks and Wildlife Policy and Management Teams, the regional parks and wildlife supervisors, and the original CAC to determine whether these expanded hunting opportunities are continued.

Based on feedback from State Park and Wildlife staff, we recommend continuation of the Spring Turkey hunts at Interstate, Willow River and Newport State Parks. To accomplish this administrative rules should be drafted that create individual turkey management zones for each of these parks. These hunts would be managed as hunts are currently managed at the other state parks that currently allow spring turkey hunting (Governor Dodge, Devils Lake, Wyalusing, Wildcat Mountain, Mirror Lake and Buckhorn State Parks). Wildlife biologists will continue to work with park staff to determine appropriate permit levels for these parks.

Small game hunting will continue at Governor Dodge, Mirror Lake, and Mill Bluff State Parks. Each of these hunting opportunities has provided increased opportunity for hunters in these two state parks and there is little evidence of loss in non-hunting visitation or conflicts during these hunts. When a State Park develops or reviews a property's Master Plan, small game hunting under this model should be considered. In considering a property for small game hunting, issues that would be reviewed should include an assessment of undeveloped park acreage available for hunting, distance from populated area, adjacent land uses, park layout, local support, potential user conflicts, game species availability, and special environmental concerns. Lack of hunter utilization was cited as the primary reason for discontinuing the small game hunt at Newport. This park, will now offer deer and turkey hunting opportunities, both of which appear popular with hunters and will continue. However, with such limited use and interest in small game hunting, the administration of a continued small game hunt at the park was viewed as impractical and is not being recommended for continuation.

Analysis and Supporting Documents Used to Determine Effect on Small Business or in Preparation of Economic Impact Report: These rules, and the legislation which grants the department rule making authority, do not have a significant fiscal effect on the private sector or small businesses. Additionally, no significant costs are associated with compliance to these rules.

Effects on Small Businesses: These rules are applicable to individual sportspersons and impose no compliance or reporting requirements for small businesses, nor are any design or operational standards contained in the rule.
