Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the department of health and social services (DHSS) must acquire pamphlets that describe the causes and effects of fetal alcohol syndrome and the dangers to a fetus of the mother's use of cocaine or other drugs during pregnancy and distribute the pamphlets free of charge to county clerks. County clerks, in turn, must provide the pamphlets with each marriage license issued. Under 1995 Wisconsin Act 27, DHSS is renamed the department of health and family services (DHFS), effective July 1, 1996.

This bill requires DHFS to acquire, without cost if possible, or produce a pamphlet on acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) and HIV (the virus that causes AIDS). Under the bill, DHFS must distribute the pamphlets free of charge, beginning September 1, 1996, to each county clerk in sufficient quantities so that each county clerk may provide the pamphlets to marriage license applicants. The bill requires that county clerks both provide the pamphlets and require applicants to indicate receipt, on the marriage license application, of the pamphlets or refusal, on religious grounds, to receive them. Lastly, the bill requires that the marriage license application form include acknowledgement of receipt or refusal to receive the pamphlets.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
