(4) Notwithstanding subs. (5) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, all of the following apply:

(a) A member or manager who is a party to a proceeding because the person is a member or manager shall be conclusively presumed not to have breached or failed to perform a duty to the limited liability company to the extent that the member or manager has been successful on the merits or otherwise in the defense of the proceeding.

(1) (a).

History: 1993 a. 112; 2001 a. 44.

Reading ss. 183.0402 and 183.0404 together, members with a material conflict of interest are not prevented from voting their ownership interest with respect to a given matter. Rather, they are prohibited from acting in a manner that constitutes a willful failure to deal fairly with the LLC or its other members by willfully acting, or failing to act, in a manner that will have the effect of injuring the LLC or its other members. *Gottsacker v. The First LLC Case. Boucher & Kamperschroer. Wis. Law. Sept. 2005.

183.0405 Records and information. (1) A limited liability company shall keep at its principal place of business all of the following:

(a) A list, kept in alphabetical order, of each past and present member and, if applicable, manager. The list shall include the full name and last-known mailing address of each member or manager, the date on which the person became a member or manager and the date, if applicable, on which the person ceased to be a member or manager.

(b) A copy of the articles of organization and all amendments to the articles.

(c) Copies of the limited liability company's federal, state and local income or franchise tax returns and financial statements, if any, for the 4 most recent years or, if such returns and statements are not prepared for any reason, copies of the information and statements provided to, or which should have been provided to, the members to enable them to prepare their federal, state and local income tax returns for the 4 most recent years.

(d) Copies of all operating agreements, all amendments to operating agreements and any operating agreements no longer in effect.

(e) Unless already set forth in an operating agreement, written records containing all of the following information:

1. The value of each member's contribution made to the limited liability company as determined under s. 183.0501 (2).

3. Any events upon which the limited liability company is to be dissolved and its business wound up.

4. Other writings as required by an operating agreement.

(2) Upon reasonable request, a member may, at the member's own expense, inspect and copy during ordinary business hours any limited liability company record required to be kept under sub. (1) and, unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, any other limited liability company record, wherever the record is located.

(3) Members or, if the management of the limited liability company is vested in one or more managers, managers shall provide, to the extent that the circumstances render it just and reasonable, true and full information of all things affecting the members to any member or to the legal representative of any member upon reasonable request of the member or the legal representative.

(4) Failure of a limited liability company to keep or maintain any of the records or information required under this section shall not be grounds for imposing liability on any person for the debts and obligations of the limited liability company.

The scope of a member's right of inspection under sub. (2) is exceptionally broad and hinges on what constitutes an LLC record and the degree and kind of restrictions on access that upon reasonable request may impose. Kasten v. Doral Dental USA, 2007 WI 76, 301 Wis. 2d 598, 733 N.W.2d 300, 05–0995.

Inspection "upon reasonable request" in sub. (2) pertains to the breadth of an inspection request, as well as the timing and form of the inspection. One purpose of the "upon reasonable request" requirement is to protect the company from member inspection requests that impose undue financial burdens on the company. Whether an inspection request is unreasonable requires balancing the statute's bias in favor of member access to records against the costs of the inspection to the company. Kasten v. Doral Dental USA, 2007 WI 76, 301 Wis. 2d 598, 733 N.W.2d 300, 05–0995.

When applying the balancing test to determine whether a request for records imposes undue financial burdens, a number of factors may be relevant, including: 1) whether the request is restricted by date or subject matter; 2) the reason given, if any, for the request, and whether the request is related to that reason; 3) the importance of the information to the member's interest in the company; and 4) whether the information may be obtained from another source. Kasten v. Doral Dental USA, 2007 WI 76, 301 Wis. 2d 598, 733 N.W.2d 300, 05–0995.

Sub. (3) establishes a member right to true and full information, without regard to whether that information is recorded and stored as a record or document, but restricted to information affecting the members and to the extent that the circumstances render the provision of the information just and reasonable. "All things affecting the members" means all things affecting the requesting member's financial interest in the company. To the extent records and documents requested contain information affecting a member's financial interest in the company, the information contained in the records or documents must be furnished to the requesting member. *Kasten v. (2) The value of a member's contribution shall be determined in the manner provided in an operating agreement. If the members do not enter into an operating agreement or if an operating agreement does not so provide, the value of a contribution shall be approved by the members under s. 183.0404 (2) (f). That value shall be properly reflected in the records and information kept by the limited liability company under s. 183.0405 (1) and the value shall be binding and conclusive on the limited liability company and its members.

If a member does not provide cash, property or services as promised, the member is obligated at the option of the limited liability company to provide cash equal to that portion of the value, as stated in the records required to be kept under s. 183.0405 (1), of the stated contribution that has not been fulfilled.

(3) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, a member's obligation to provide cash or property or perform services as a contribution to the limited liability company may be compromised only by the written consent of all of the members.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0503 Allocation of profits and losses. The profits and losses of a limited liability company shall be allocated among the members in the manner provided in an operating agreement. SUBCHAPTER VI

NONLIQUIDATING DISTRIBUTIONS

183.0601 Interim distributions. Except as provided in this subchapter, a member is entitled to receive distributions from a limited liability company, before the member's dissociation from the limited liability company and before its dissolution and winding up, to the extent and at the times or upon the events specified in an operating agreement, or, if not otherwise provided in an operating agreement, to the extent and at the times determined by the members or managers under s. 183.0404 (1).

History: 1993 a. 112; 1995 a. 400.

183.0602 Allocation of distributions. Distributions of cash or other assets of a limited liability company shall be allocated among the members as provided in an operating agreement. If the members do not enter into an operating agreement or the operating agreement does not so provide, distributions shall be allocated in the same manner that profits are allocated under s. 183.0503.

History: 1993 a. 112; 1995 a. 400.

183.0603 Distribution upon partial redemption. Except as provided in this subchapter, upon the distribution in partial redemption by a limited liability company of a member's interest, the redeeming member is entitled to receive with respect to the redeemed interest any distribution to which the member is entitled under an operating agreement and, if not otherwise provided in an operating agreement, within a reasonable time after the redemption, the redeeming member is entitled to receive the fair value of the redeemed interest as of the date of redemption based on the member's right to share in distributions from the limited liability company.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0604 Distribution upon dissociation. Except as otherwise provided in this subchapter, upon an event of dissociation under s. 183.0802 that does not cause dissolution of the limited liability company, a dissociating member is entitled to receive any distribution to which the member is entitled under an operating agreement and, if not otherwise provided in an operating agreement, within a reasonable time after dissociation, the dissociating member is entitled to receive a distribution in complete redemption of the fair value of the member's interest in the limited liability company as of the date of dissociation based on the member's right to share in distributions from the limited liability company.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0605 Distribution in kind. Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, all of the following apply:

(1) A member may not demand and receive any distribution from a limited liability company in any form other than cash, regardless of the form of the member's contribution to the limited liability company.

(2) A member may not be compelled to accept a distribution of any asset in kind from a limited liability company to the extent that the percentage of the asset distributed to the member exceeds the percentage in which the member shares in distributions from the limited liability company.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0606 Right to distribution. At the time that a member becomes entitled to receive a distribution from a limited liability company, the member has the status of and is entitled to all remedies available to a creditor of the limited liability company with respect to the distribution.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0607 Limitations on distribution. (1) A limited liability company may not declare or make a distribution to any of its members if, after giving effect to the distribution, any of the following would occur:

(a) The limited liability company would be unable to pay its debts as they become due in the usual course of business.

(b) The fair value of the limited liability company's total assets would be less than the sum of its total liabilities plus, unless an operating agreement provides otherwise, the amount that would be needed, if the limited liability company were to be dissolved at the time of the distribution, to satisfy the preferential rights upon dissolution of members, if any, whose preferential rights are superior to those of the members receiving the distribution.

(2) A limited liability company may base a determination that a distribution is not prohibited by sub. (1) on any of the following:

(a) Financial statements and other financial data prepared on the basis of accounting practices and principles that are reasonable under the circumstances.

(b) A fair valuation or other method that is reasonable under the circumstances.

(3) Except as provided in sub. (5), the effect of a distribution for purposes of sub. (1) is measured as of the following date:

(a) The date on which the distribution is authorized if the payment occurs within 120 days after the date of authorization.

(b) The date on which payment is made if the payment occurs more than 120 days after the date of authorization.

(4) A limited liability company's indebtedness to a member incurred by reason of a distribution made in accordance with this section is at parity with the limited liability company's indebtedness to its general, unsecured creditors, except to the extent subordinated by written agreement. This subsection does not affect the validity or priority of a security interest in a limited liability company's property that is created to secure the indebtedness to the member.

(5) Indebtedness of a limited liability company, including indebtedness issued as a distribution, is not considered a liability for purposes of a determination under sub. (1) if the terms of the indebtedness provide that payment of principal and interest is to be made only if, and to the extent that, payment of a distribution to members could then be made under this section. If indebtedness is issued as a distribution, each payment of principal or interest on the indebtedness is treated as a distribution, the effect of which is measured on the date on which the payment is made.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0608 Liability for wrongful distribution. (1) Except as provided in sub. (3), a member or manager who votes for or assents to a distribution in violation of s. 183.0607 or of an operating agreement is personally liable to the limited liability company for the amount of the distribution that exceeds what could have been distributed without violating s. 183.0607 or the operating agreement.

(2) Each member or manager who is liable under sub. (1) for a wrongful distribution is entitled to contribution from all of the following persons:

(a) Every other member or manager who could be held liable under sub. (1) for the wrongful distribution.

(b) Every member for the amount that the member received knowing that the distribution was made in violation of s. 183.0607 or of an operating agreement.

(3) A proceeding under this section is barred unless it is brought within 2 years after the date on which the effect of the distribution was measured under s. 183.0607.

SUBCHAPTER VII

OWNERSHIP AND TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

183.0701 Ownership of limited liability company property. (1) All property originally transferred to or subsequently acquired by or on account of a limited liability company is property of the limited liability company and not of the members individually.

(2) Property acquired with limited liability company funds is presumed to be limited liability company property.

(3) Property may be acquired, held and conveyed in the name of a limited liability company. Any interest in real property may be acquired in the name of a limited liability company and title to any interest so acquired shall vest in the limited liability company rather than in the members individually.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0702 Transfer of property. (1) Except as provided in sub. (2), property of a limited liability company held in the name of the limited liability company may be transferred by an instrument of transfer executed by any member in the name of the limited liability company.

(2) If management of a limited liability company is vested in one or more managers, all of the following apply:

(a) Title to property of the limited liability company that is held in the name of the limited liability company may be transferred by an instrument of transfer executed by any manager in the name of the limited liability company.

183.0704 Assignment of limited liability company interest. (1) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, all of the following apply:

(a) A limited liability company interest is assignable in whole or in part.

(b) An assignment of a limited liability company interest entitles the assignee to receive only the distributions and to share in the allocations of profits and losses to which the assignor would be entitled with respect to the assigned interest.

(c) An assignment of a limited liability company interest does not dissolve the limited liability company.

(d) Unless and until the assignee becomes a member of the limited liability company under s. 183.0706, an assignment of a limited liability company interest does not entitle the assignee to participate in the management of the business of the limited liability company or to become or exercise any rights of a member nor does an assignment result in the assignee having liability as a member of the limited liability company as a result of the assignment.

(e) Unless and until the assignee of a limited liability company interest becomes a member of the limited liability company under s. 183.0706, the assignor continues to be a member and to have the power to exercise the rights of a member, subject to the members' right to remove the assignor under s. 183.0802.

(f) The assignor of a limited liability company interest is not released from any personal liability arising under this chapter as a member of the limited liability company solely as a result of the assignment.

(2) An operating agreement may provide that a member's limited liability company interest may be evidenced by a certificate of limited liability company interest issued by the limited liability company and may also provide for the assignment or transfer of any interest represented by the certificate.

(3) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, the pledge of, or the granting of a security interest, lien or other encumbrance in or against any or all of a member's limited liability company interest is not an assignment and shall not cause the member to be an assignor or to cease to have the power to exercise any rights or powers of a member.

183.0705 Rights of judgment creditor. On application to a court of competent jurisdiction by any judgment creditor of a member, the court may charge the member's limited liability company interest with payment of the unsatisfied amount of the judgment. To the extent so charged, the judgment creditor has only the rights of an assignee of the member's limited liability company interest. This section does not deprive any member of the benefit of any exemption laws applicable to the limited liability company interest.

History: 1993 a. 112.

183.0706 Right of assignee to become a member. (1) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, an assignee of a limited liability company interest may become a member only if the other members unanimously consent. The consent of a member may be evidenced in any manner specified in an operating agreement, but in the absence of such specification, consent shall be evidenced by a written instrument that is dated and signed by the member.

(2) (a) An assignee of a limited liability company interest who becomes a member has, to the extent assigned, the rights and powers, and is subject to the restrictions and liabilities, of the assignor under an operating agreement and this chapter. An assignee who becomes a member is liable for any of the assignor's obligations under an operating agreement and this chapter to the limited liability company.

(b) Notwithstanding par. (a), an assignee is not obligated for liabilities of which the assignee had no knowledge at the time the assignee became a member or which could not be ascertained from any written records of the limited liability company kept under s. 183.0405 (1).

(3) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, an assignor of a limited liability company interest is not released from any liability of the assignor to the limited liability company under this chapter without the written consent of all of the members, whether or not the assignee becomes a member.

If a member is a corporation, trust, partnership, limited liability company or other entity and is dissolved or terminated, its legal representative or successor shall have all of the rights of an assignee of the member's interest.

(c) The member is removed as a member in accordance with an operating agreement.

(cm) Unless otherwise provided in an operating agreement, the member assigns all of the member's interest in the limited liability company if the member is removed by the affirmative vote of the members as determined under s. 183.0404 (1) (a), except that the vote of the member who assigns all of the member's interest shall be excluded.

When the legislature provides a specific default term on a topic and the operating agreement does not explicitly refer to that topic, it is reasonable to conclude the parties did not intend to override that default term. If an operating agreement is ambiguous as to whether the members intended to override a particular statutory default term, the statutory default term governs. An operating agreement that does not refer to voting on any particular matter does not explicitly address voting to authorize an action on behalf of an LLC and does not override sub. (1). Lenticular Europe, LLC v. Cunnally, 2005 WI App 33, 279 Wis. 2d 385, 693 N.W.2d 302, 04–1054.

(d) The foreign limited liability company does not inform the department under s. 183.1008 or 183.1009 that its registered agent or registered office has changed, that its registered agent has resigned or that its registered office has been discontinued, within 6 months of the change, resignation or discontinuance.

(e) The foreign limited liability company obtained its certificate of registration through fraud.

(f) The department receives an authenticated certificate from the secretary of state or other official having custody of limited liability company records in the state or country under whose law the foreign limited liability company is incorporated stating that it has been dissolved or disappeared as the result of a merger.

(2) If the department receives a certificate under sub. (1) (f) and a statement by the foreign limited liability company that the certificate is submitted by the foreign limited liability company to terminate its registration to transact business in this state, the department shall revoke the foreign limited liability company's certificate of registration under s. 183.1021 (2) (b).

(3) A court may revoke under s. 946.87 the certificate of registration of a foreign limited liability company registered to transact business in this state. The court shall notify the department of the action, and the department shall revoke the foreign limited liability company's certificate of registration under s. 183.1021 (2) (b).

History: 1995 a. 27; 2001 a. 44.

183.1021 Procedure for and effect of revocation. (1) If the department determines that one or more grounds exist under s. 183.1020 (1) for revocation of a certificate of registration, the department shall give the foreign limited liability company written notice of the determination by first class mail, addressed to the foreign limited liability company's registered office.

(2) (a) Within 60 days after the notice takes effect, the foreign limited liability company shall correct each ground for revocation or demonstrate to the reasonable satisfaction of the department that each ground determined by the department does not exist.

(b) If the foreign limited liability company fails to satisfy par. (a), the department may revoke the foreign limited liability company's certificate of registration by entering a notation in the department's records to reflect each ground for revocation and the effective date of the revocation. The department shall give written notice of those facts to the foreign limited liability company by first class mail, addressed to the foreign limited liability company's registered office.

(2g) (a) If a notice under sub. (1) or (2) (b) is returned to the department as undeliverable, the department shall again give written notice to the foreign limited liability company, addressed to the principal office of the foreign limited liability company.

(b) If the notice under par. (a) is returned to the department as undeliverable or if the foreign limited liability company's principal office cannot be determined from the records of the department, the department shall give the notice by publishing a class 1 notice under ch. 985 in the official state newspaper.

(2r) A notice under sub. (1), (2) (b), or (2g) (a) takes effect at the earliest of the following:

(a) When received.

(b) Five days after its deposit in the U.S. mail, if mailed postpaid and correctly addressed.

(c) On the date shown on the return receipt, if sent by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, and the receipt is signed by or on behalf of the addressee.

(3) The authority of a foreign limited liability company to transact business in this state, other than as provided in s. 183.1002 (2), ends on the effective date of revocation of its certificate of registration as reflected in the records of the department.

(4) If the department or a court revokes a foreign limited liability company's certificate of registration, the foreign limited liability company may be served under s. 183.1010 (3) and (4) or the foreign limited liability company's registered agent may be served until the registered agent's authority is terminated, in any civil, criminal, administrative or investigatory proceeding based on a cause of action which arose while the foreign limited liability company was registered to transact business in this state.

(5) Revocation of a foreign limited liability company's certificate of registration does not terminate the authority of its registered agent.

History: 1995 a. 27; 2001 a. 44; 2011 a. 234.

183.1022 Appeal from revocation. (1) A foreign limited liability company may appeal the department's revocation of its certificate of registration under s. 183.1020 (1) to the circuit court for the county where the foreign limited liability company's principal office or, if none in this state, its registered office is located, within 30 days after notice of revocation takes effect under s. 183.1021 (2r). The foreign limited liability company shall appeal by petitioning the court to set aside the revocation and attaching to the petition copies of its certificate of registration and the department's notice of revocation.

(2) The court may order the department to reinstate the certificate of registration or may take any other action that the court considers appropriate.

(3) The court's final decision may be appealed as in other civil proceedings.

History: 1995 a. 27; 2001 a. 44.

(2) In an action brought on behalf of a limited liability company, the member bringing the action shall be a member at the time of bringing the action and at the time of the transaction which is the subject of the action or the person's status as a member devolved upon that person by operation of law or under the terms of an operating agreement from a person who was a member at the time of the transaction.
