PART I

WORK OF THE 2017-18 JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

WORK OF THE 2017-18 JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The Joint Legislative Council held two meetings between January 1, 2017 and June 30, 2018 (the period covered by this report), on the following dates:

February 1, 2017
February 15, 2017

The proposals introduced by the Joint Legislative Council and the Law Revision Committee are discussed in Part II of this report.

Council Study Committees

During the period covered by this report, the Council functioned with two statutory committees and seven study committees, that were established to report to the 2017-18 Joint Legislative Council.

The statutory committees were:

- Law Revision
- State-Tribal Relations

The study committees that the Council created to report to the 2017-18 Council were:

- Access to Civil Legal Services
- Preservation of Burial Sites
- Publication of Government Documents and Legal Notices
- Reducing Recidivism and Removing Impediments to Ex-Offender Employment
- Rural Broadband
- School Data
- Volunteer Firefighter and Emergency Medical Technician Services

Organization and Activities of the Joint Legislative Council

The Joint Legislative Council is composed of 22 legislators, 11 from the Senate and 11 from the Assembly. Twelve of these members are ex officio and serve on the Council because of their positions as legislative leaders. They are the following: the Speaker of the Assembly; the President of the Senate; the Speaker Pro Tempore of the Assembly; President Pro Tempore of the Senate; the Assembly and Senate Majority and Minority Leaders; the two Co-Chairs of the Joint Committee on Finance; and the ranking minority member of the Joint Committee on Finance from each house. The other 10 members are appointed as are members of standing committees: five are appointed by the Chair of the Senate Committee on Organization; and five by the Speaker of the Assembly. [s. 13.81 (1), Stats.]

The Joint Legislative Council establishes study committees during the recess periods of the Legislature. The Council determines which studies will be conducted and assigns these studies to particular committees created by the Council for review, study, and recommendations. These studies generally are of four types:

1. Intensive examination of problems that are expected to confront a succeeding Legislature.
2. Review of controversial subjects that were unresolved by the previous Legislature.
3. Major codifications and revisions of portions of the law.
4. Methods of improving the operation and effectiveness of state agencies.

There are two continuing Council committees currently required by statute: the Special Committee on State-Tribal Relations and the Law Revision Committee. [s. 13.83, Stats.]

Under s. 13.82 (1), Stats., all studies or investigations that are proposed by the Legislature to be conducted are referred to the Council. Individual legislators and others often request that a particular study be undertaken. Also, the Council is given specific statutory authority to initiate such studies as it feels will be of value to the citizens of the state. The Council determines which of the studies will be conducted, based on its judgment of which studies should have priority within the limits of the Council appropriation and staff resources.

The end result of this study activity is the submission by the committees of reports and, in almost all cases, implementing legislation to the Joint Legislative Council. The Council reviews the legislative proposals and introduces in the Legislature those it approves by a majority of the membership of the Council (12 votes).

Operation of Council Staff

The Joint Legislative Council and the Council's study committees are staffed by a central nonpartisan legislative service agency. The Legislative Council staff serves in the unclassified service. As of June 30, 2018, the Council staff included, in addition to the Director, 17 attorneys, one analyst, and five administrative/support staff.

The basic duties of the staff include:

1. To provide legal and policy research, and administrative services for the Council and its committees.

2. To provide legal and policy research, and analysis services for the Legislature's substantive standing and joint committees.
3. To provide legal and policy research services for individual legislators.
4. To serve as the Administrative Rules Clearinghouse for review of all proposed administrative rules.
5. To provide information to the public.

Each of these activities is discussed briefly below.

Services for the Council and its Committees. The Council staff provides services for the Joint Legislative Council and its study committees.

Services for Legislative Committees. The Council staff provides nonpartisan legal counsel and policy research for standing committees and their subcommittees, select or special committees of the Legislature, and a number of joint statutory committees. The Council staff serves as the secretariat for the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization and for the Joint Committee on Employment Relations.

Services for Individual Legislators. Upon request, the Council staff provides legal analysis and other research to individual legislators.

Administrative Rules Clearinghouse. Prior to any public hearing on a proposed rule, or prior to notification of the chief clerks if no hearing is required, the agency proposing the rule must submit the proposed rule to the Council staff for review. The Council staff is required to review the rule for various technical requirements, such as statutory authority for promulgation of the rule and the form and clarity of the rule and issue a clearinghouse report with its comments on the rule. The Council staff also works with and assists the appropriate standing committees throughout the rule-making process. For additional information, see the Clearinghouse's 2017 Annual Report to the Legislature, which is available at <http://www.legis.wisconsin.gov/lc>. [See s. 227.15, Stats.]

Services to the Public. The Council staff is available to answer questions from members of the general public and from research agencies and legislators of other states. Information about the Council staff, as well as publications prepared by the staff, is available at <http://www.legis.wisconsin.gov/lc>.
